As a passionate and career development-orientated person in Web Development, I have a strong educational background in computer science and great enthusiasm in learning the latest web technologies. I am ready to bring my desire to learn and grow into a dynamic work environment, while making meaningful contributions in the development of challenging projects.

Experience

React Native Developer - PT Moojol

June-August 2021

- Mobile App Development: Designing, developing, and maintaining mobile applications using React Native. This involves writing JavaScript code and utilizing various React Native components to create responsive and engaging user interfaces
- API Integration: Working with backend APIs to integrate necessary data and functionality into your mobile application. This involves making HTTP API calls, processing responses, and managing data.

Fullstack Website Development - Project Experience

2023

- Worked on a Fullstack website development project as part of my undergraduate thesis.
- Utilized Laravel technology for backend API and React JS for frontend development.
- Designed and implemented MySQL database for data storage and management.
- Integrated various features such as user authentication, content management, and interactive functionalities.
- Implemented responsive design principles to ensure consistent user experience across different devices.
- Faced technical challenges and resolved them in innovative and effective ways.
